8. CSPDCL Network Infrastructure:

Introduction

The Chhattisgarh State Power Distribution Company Limited (CSPDCL), through its specialized IT division known as the Energy Info Tech Centre (EITC), is responsible for designing, implementing, and maintaining all IT and network-related activities across the three State Power Companies — CSPDCL (Distribution), CSPGCL (Generation), and CSPTCL (Transmission).

In order to support the increasing demand for secure, fast, and reliable digital operations, CSPDCL has established a robust and scalable Data Centre (DC) in Raipur and a fully redundant Disaster Recovery (DR) site in Bilaspur, Chhattisgarh. The organization has also implemented SAP-ERP and other mission-critical applications that are centrally hosted and accessed by users spread across the state through a combination of MPLS, Internet, and VSAT connectivity.

The entire IT infrastructure designed with high redundancy, scalability, and data integrity in mind, supported by advanced Software-Defined Networking (SDN) technologies, including Cisco Application Centric Infrastructure (ACI) and Cisco SD-WAN.

Data Centre and Disaster Recovery (DC-DR) Network Design

➤ Data Centre (DC) – Raipur

The primary Data Centre located at Raipur serves as the central hub for CSPDCL's IT operations. It hosts all core enterprise applications such as SAP, HRMS, billing systems, and customer service portals.

At the DC, all major network and system components — including core routers, firewalls, switches, and servers — are designed in high-availability (HA) mode, ensuring that critical services remain unaffected even in the event of hardware or link failure.

➤ Disaster Recovery (DR) Site – Bilaspur

Upgradation & Migration of SAP ERP N11 & SAP SRM (e-bidding System) Applications along with their Databases including migration of allied systems

The DR site in Bilaspur acts as the backup data center to the Raipur DC. It is synchronized data from the DC through dedicated replication links from two separate ISPs. These links are primarily used for server and storage data replication, ensuring that critical data and applications can be quickly restored in the event of a disaster at the primary site.

➤ MPLS Core Network

CSPDCL's wide area network (WAN) is primarily built on a Multi-Protocol Label Switching (MPLS) backbone, which connects the Data Centre, Disaster Recovery site, and all remote offices.

- In DC, Two Core Routers installed where Three MPLS Backbone links working from multiple ISPs for bandwidth aggregation and redundancy.
- In DR, Two Core Routers installed where Three MPLS Backbone links working for seamless failover and continuity.
- The MPLS routers at both DC and DR are interconnected through core switches, ensuring that even if one router or link fails, the other can instantly take over without service interruption.
- Bandwidth is cumulative; meaning the total available capacity across all WAN links is utilized efficiently for optimal performance.

This setup ensures non-stop connectivity between all sites and supports seamless SAP and enterprise application access for end-users.

➤ Internet Connectivity

Both the DC and DR are connected to three high-speed Internet links sourced from different ISPs. These multiple Internet connections are used for:

- Load balancing – to distribute traffic evenly across all links.
- Redundancy – if one ISP link fails, another automatically takes over.
- Centralized Internet Access – all remote offices access the Internet via these centralized DC/DR Internet links, ensuring uniform policy enforcement and security through firewalls.
- Application-All the DC-DR based Major Web base Applications (website, Bill Payment, e-Bidding, Spot Billing, AMR-HT billing) accessed by Centralized Internet.
- ✓ In DC, Three Routers installed where Three Internet links working from multiple ISPs for bandwidth aggregation and redundancy.
- ✓ In DR, Three Routers installed where Three Internet links working from multiple ISPs for seamless failover and continuity.

➤ DC-DR Replication Links

Two dedicated replication links connect the DC and DR. These are provided by different ISPs to ensure redundancy and are used exclusively for data replication between storage systems and servers. This setup guarantees real-time synchronization of business-critical data and minimizes potential data loss in case of disasters.

Remote Office Network Architecture

Upgradation & Migration of SAP ERP N11 & SAP SRM (e-bidding System) Applications along with their Databases including migration of allied systems

CSPCL has a vast network of remote offices, including Region, Circle, Division, SubDivision, and site offices under CSPDCL, all the Plant locations under CSPGCL & all the substation related offices under CSPTCL distributed across the state.

Each remote office is designed for high availability and redundancy using the following components:

- Routers with dual WAN links (from different service providers such as BSNL, JIO, Airtel, broadband, 4G).
- Intelligent routing mechanisms such as IP SLA (Service Level Agreement Monitoring) and Policy-Based Routing (PBR) to achieve dynamic load balancing and failover between links.
- In areas without MPLS coverage, connectivity is provided through VSAT links to maintain uninterrupted communication with the central data center.
- LAN redundancy ensures that even if one link fails the Remote locations users continue to access applications via the available backup path.

Software-Defined Network (SDN) Implementation

To modernize and automate its data and WAN infrastructure, CSPDCL has adopted a Software-Defined Networking (SDN) approach, integrating Cisco ACI for the data center network and Cisco SD-WAN for the WAN layer.

➤ Application Centric Infrastructure (ACI)

Cisco ACI provides a software-defined, policy-based architecture for the DC and DR. It simplifies management, improves scalability, and enhances application performance.

➤ Key Components:

- Spine and Leaf Topology: Each of the DC and DR sites consists of two spine switches and multiple leaf switches — categorized as server leafs (for server connectivity) and border leafs (for external connectivity).
- Application Policy Infrastructure Controller (APIC): Acts as the centralized controller that manages all network policies, automation, and configurations across the ACI fabric.
- Firewall Integration:
  - Internal Firewall: Handles traffic between MPLS and LAN segments.
  - External Firewall: Manages Internet-facing traffic.
  - Routing: Achieved via static routes between the firewalls and border leaf switches.
- Redundancy: The ACI fabric at both DC and DR is designed in full redundancy, ensuring no single point of failure within the network core.

This setup allows CSPDCL to dynamically manage workloads, simplify configurations, and ensure secure interconnections between different network zones.

Software-Defined Wide Area Network (SD-WAN)

Upgradation & Migration of SAP ERP N11 & SAP SRM (e-bidding System) Applications along with their Databases including migration of allied systems

SD-WAN implementation is one of the most critical upgrades in CSPDCL's WAN infrastructure. It introduces centralized management, security, and intelligent traffic routing over multiple WAN connections.

➤ Architecture and Components:

- Both DC and DR host the following SD-WAN components:
  - 3 Managers (vManage): Responsible for centralized management, policy deployment, and monitoring.
  - 3 Controllers (vSmart): Handle routing intelligence, control plane policies, and overlay management.
  - 3 Validators (vBond): Manage initial authentication and connectivity between edge routers and controllers.
- The DC and DR Managers operate in cluster mode, providing high availability. In the event of a failure at the DC, the DR Manager automatically takes over as the active primary node.

➤ Remote Site Integration:

- All remote site SD-WAN Edge Routers connect securely to the DC and DR controllers via DTLS (Datagram Transport Layer Security) encrypted tunnels.
- They also connect to the vManage for centralized policy and configuration deployment.

Primary feature of SD-WAN is that it lets customers create a single network infrastructure that includes many connection types, such as multiprotocol label switching (MPLS), broadband, or cellular connections.

Upgradation & Migration of SAP ERP N11 & SAP SRM (e-bidding System) Applications along with their Databases including migration of allied systems

5. Operating System & Cluster:

Bidder needs to upgrade/re-installed latest RHEL Operating System with OS Cluster for N11 and SRM Production Landscape in above existing servers hardware at DC-DR sites and also onto provided required Virtual machines for N11-SRM Development, Quality, DMS, Solution Manager, SAP Web-Dispatcher, SAP Router & N11-SRM additional application instances.

6. SAN Storage:

Bidder needs to utilize existing HPE 3Par 8200 storage for transferring/migration of old data of N11, Solution Manager, DMS, SAP Web-Dispatcher, SAP Router and SRM Production Landscape on to new upgraded architecture.

7. Backup:

Bidder needs to re-install or re-configure SAP & Oracle Database backups of N11, Solution Manager, DMS and SRM Production Landscape & utilize existing Veritas Net-Backup solution to integrate/configure backups.

8. Replication:

Bidder needs to configure the Oracle Data Guard replication with DGMGRL configuration for N11 and SRM Production Landscape.

9. Replication Monitoring Tool:

Bidder needs to re-install or re-configure Continuity Patrol replication monitoring tool for both newly installed N11 and SRM Production Landscape at both DC-DR sites.

10. Hardware monitoring Solution:

Bidder needs to re-install or re-configure Micro-Focus Hardware monitoring tool for all newly installed N11, Solution Manager, DMS, N11-SRM Application Instances, SAP Web-Dispatcher and SRM Production Landscape at both DC-DR sites.

Upgradation & Migration of SAP ERP N11 & SAP SRM (e-bidding System) Applications along with their Databases including migration of allied systems

Annexure-3

SCOPE AND EXTENT OF WORK

A. Intent of Scope & Specifications

1. CSPDCL has implemented SAP ERP through a state of the art technology for all of its Power Companies to cater the present and future demand of data transaction in SAP between Central Site (Data Center) and various offices. CSPDCL has implemented an online-integrated enterprise wide SAP system to automate its current business processes. CSPDCL has already established computer network backbone to support the application requirements. CSPDCL has already developed the Data Center (DC) at headquarter in Dangania, Raipur and its Disaster Recovery Center (DRC) at Bilaspur along with the centralized Network Operation Centre (NOC) and Cyber Security Operation Centre (C-SOC at Raipur.
2. CSPDCL has implemented SAP ERP N11 since 2005 currently being used for CSPGCL & CSPTCL and also implemented the SAP SRM (e-bidding) system for all the power companies since 2012-13.
3. Various Enterprise level Servers, SAN Storage, SAN & other switches, backup devices and allied equipment's along with necessary enterprise application software's have been procured, installed and commissioned in DC Raipur and at DR site under the various projects implemented in CS Power companies. Some of the server hardware, operating system software and other data center infrastructures installed for SAP ERP N11 & SAP SRM (including Development, Quality & Production) systems including some other allied systems like Solution Manager, SAP DMS, additional application instances of ERP & SRM etc. which are running in HP-UX based Itanium Servers are getting out of OEM supports/obsolete.
4. Both the mentioned SAP applications & allied applications/systems mentioned above are currently hosted in Itanium based HPE-Blade/RX servers running with native HP-UX operating systems. The installed SAP versions of the systems are ECC 6.0 EHP8 & SRM 7.0 EHP2 along with the Oracle database as Oracle 12c (Oracle Enterprise 12.2.0.1.0) & Oracle 11g (Oracle Enterprise 11.2.0.3.0) for ERP N11 & SRM system respectively. Details of existing systems/applications and other details are given in Annexure-1.
5. As Oracle 11/12 and SRM 7.2 EHP2 are out of support and SAP has stopped support of applications in HP-UX platform with these older versions of Oracle database, CSPDCL needs to migrate & upgrade these systems (applications & databases) to the latest supported version into other IT infrastructure available with CSPDCL which are supported and compatible.
